Detailed Action

Title

1. The Examiner accepts the title of the invention. The new title is indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claims

2. The examiner accepts the amended claims 1, 2, 5, 10-14 and the newly added claims 19-26. Claims 15-18 are cancelled per applicants' amendment.

Allowance

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

In reference to claims 1, 5, 19 and 24: Watanabe (U.S. 5,737,616) teaches a power saving method and apparatus in a portable appliance (see Watanabe, Abstract).

The method includes:

The method includes:

- Inputting power management data (power supply mode) into a user setup menu (it is inherent that most operating system have some sort of user setup menu for power setting that can be shown on the computer's monitor) on a display associated with the appliance (computer) (see Watanabe, column 5, lines 15-43);

- Outputting control command to a micro-controller based on the power management data (see Watanabe, Fig. 1, signal from CPU, 11 to power supply control register, 14); and
- Executing the power control command of the micro-controller (see Watanabe, Fig. 1, CPU, 11 executes the power control command) where the execution includes disconnecting battery power from the selected one of plurality devices in the appliance (see Watanabe, Fig 1, block 2 and column 6, lines 14-31).
- Checking respective devices in the portable appliance (see Watanabe, Fig. 1 and column 4, lines 14-34);

However Watanabe does not teach:

- Displaying checked information for a respective device in a user set up menu when the power level drops below a certain threshold;
- Outputting a control command to a micro-controller based on power saving data; and
- Executing power saving program in accordance with a control command from the micro-controller.

Whereas, the claimed invention includes all the features noted above and further provides a means for checking the remaining capacity of the battery with respect to each installed portable appliance and frequency of use of the respective devices.

The remaining claims are dependent upon claims 1, 5, 19 and 24 and contain further limitations.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
